CLOISTERS OF OUTER DARKNESS: THE INEVITABILITY OF RAGNAROK

by Wolfgang Baur

The roots of Yggdrasil grow deep in the void between the stars, and always they suffer from the gnawing of the ancient void dragon Nidhogg. By this ancient wyrm's side stand the scribes of the satarre, taking down the words that will unravel creation and end the foolish work of the gods. In each utterance from the void, these seekers encrypt arcane power over death and destruction, gaining new tools to hammer home the utter inevitability of the void.

Writing down the words of Nidhogg is only the first step in the work of the void cults. Once this dark lore is faithfully written out, it is swiftly conveyed to the Cloisters of Outer Darkness in the Shadow Realm, to its scriptorium in Soriglass, the city of shades and wraiths. There the most potent elements are copied out and sent to the priests of the dark gods: followers of Chernobog, Vardesain, and the Hunter, as well as the White Goddess and Mot, the Lord of Death. Slowly, corruption seeps and spreads from the scaly lips of the void dragon to the widest reaches of the multiverse.

This is the wellspring of the arcane school of void magic (first revealed in Midgard Worldbook, expanded further in Deep Magic, and continued here for the corruption and education of Warlock patrons).

Hidden Cults of the Doomridden Void

Void cultists are a secretive lot. They seek to destroy all life and all creation, so naturally they make few friends. And yet, controlling such apocalyptic power is thrilling, and the forces of negation, destruction, and death are powerful ones to wield for anyone seeking dominion over the existing world. So who are these destroyers, and where are their efforts focused? Little is known about most of them, though four groups seem to have lasted longer than most. They seem to fall into many mutually suspicious groups, all occasionally allies but more often rivals.

DOOMBRINGERS

As fallen paladins and their allies, the Doombringers are a force for primal destruction—they smash, kill, burn, and destroy. Their goals are to burn cities, wipe out villages, and end the reign of living things by the slow, purposeful murder of anyone and everyone who is not a void cultist. They are known for their use of soul-killing weapons, shields that disintegrate what they touch, and other items and techniques considered abominable by most warrior creeds (such as plague weapons, undead foot soldiers, and the destruction of harvests, wells, and granaries).

Their leaders change rapidly. Since most Doombringers are led by charismatic individuals intent on immediate carnage, their time as “First Among the Doombringers” tends to be short. They operate in small groups throughout the planes, gathering zealous followers through promises of riches, power, and the sheer sadistic joy of tearing down what others have built and grown over years or centuries. Demons and devils are frequently their allies or even servants.

FOLLOWERS OF THE PURE VOID

A rather esoteric group of largely human, satarre, and dwarven mystics, mostly men, these bookish cultists are among those who seek to use knowledge in the pursuit of Ragnarok—or other apocalyptic end times. This often culminates in summoning a cosmic horror or a major fiend, such as a spawn of Hriggala (see Tome of Beasts 2) or a simple voidling (see Tome of Beasts). They haunt the libraries of major cities, infiltrating wizard’s collegiums and guilds, with an eye toward locked rooms of forbidden manuscripts, and they go adventuring to recover lost or buried works of significance to the void, always seeking to unlock the great blasphemous secrets that will unmake the world. In particular, they seek the bones and relics of void saints and godlings (such as the bones of the holy Myegathar and the Crimson Scepter, see below), and they often visit the Void itself or dredge it with mooncatcher’s nets bought at some expense from the shadow goblins of Fandeval. (For more on mooncatcher’s nets, see Book of Ebon Tides, noting that memories can be harvested normally in the Void only on the Ever River. Using the nets throughout the greater Void has only a 20% chance of recovering 1d2 memories since the memories are more dispersed—though those found can have a unique piquancy from their time in the Void.)

The Followers of the Pure Void deny having a leader, as such, but their eldest and most respected figures are two rivals who seem to enjoy one another’s company, though their followers always proclaim the greatness of one or the other. The elder is the red-robed Toothless Crumble, a venerable dwarven wizard with a thin white beard and an incredibly keen memory for void lore and symbols. Toothless is said to live on a drifting tower of pure force anchored in the Plane of Stars (more often called the Astral Plane). Equally ancient and learned is Chuptar alz-Faragh, a satarre cleric and scholar whose understanding of Void Speech and the various dark gods is wide-ranging. He often writes short tracts speaking out against monarchies, guilds, and judges—his dream is a world without laws or rulers, where might always makes right and the altars of the dark gods are always bloodstained. He is said to live on a drifting mountaintop where a bridge woven of Yggdrasil’s branches serves as a gateway to the multiverse.

SCRIBES OF THE BLACK STAR

This tiny order of satarre and humans visit Nidhogg and transcribe its baleful utterances into Void Speech scrolls that expand the power of the void cults. Most senior members of the cult are older and bookish, though not all. The blackguard Plaguebringer, an enormous bald human, protects Elder Jesparga Lavide, the high priest of Hrigalla, at the roots of Yggdrasil and ensures that the satarre and selang who carry Lavide’s scrolls to the Shadow Realm travel quickly and safely. Elder Lavide himself wears a Mantle of the Void Lord and carries a dozen potent scrolls for defense. He retains a retinue of void cultists and satarre mystics. Some of these zealots are invariably eaten when the great Nidhogg hungers, but Plaguebringer always brings more eager servants when the supply runs low.

Most of the other scribes of the order do their work secretly, hidden in small scriptoria and back rooms in shrines to other gods. A few work openly in lands where the dark lords are worshipped, and the will of the peasants is bent to gathering quills, making parchment, and boiling walnut gall for ink. These scribes know each other through a small black star tattoo, typically marked on the wrist of the writing hand or on an ankle.

SISTERHOOD OF THE OUTER DARKNESS

A clerical order devoted to the Void seems a contradiction, but the sisterhood worships the Void with intense fervor and is granted divine power from the darkest side of the cosmos. They see Chernobog, Alquam, Fenris, the Hunter, Hriggala, and the White Goddess as manifestations of the urge for death and chaos, and they consider them prophets or lesser manifestations of the True Void, a being whose purpose is to end the world. Their cloisters in the Shadow Realm receive the writings of the Scribes of the Black Star (their partners who traffic in delivering the translated visions of Elder Lavide).

The cloisters themselves allow only female visitors beyond the First Courtyard, and the order guards its secrets well. Many void saints and Doombringers are said to have been laid to rest in its crypts, and others have been raised from the dead many times—at least until their work brings about the ultimate realization of the Void or their physical bodies fall apart entirely. The main temple is said to contain a living sphere of annihilation for sacrificing unbelievers and to be secured by chained angels (see Tome of Beasts) and voidlings (see Tome of Beasts), singing a chorus of maledictions.

Their leader is a human with a round face, auburn hair, and a wicked smile: Mother Boslara the Sweet, a practical, manipulative, and extremely dangerous high priestess of the Dark Pantheon. She is said to be accompanied at all times by a voidling bodyguard, and outside of the cloisters themselves, she is most often found riding an adult boreal dragon (see Tome of Beasts 2) named Frostheart.

Magic Items from the Void

Though followers of the Void seek the destruction of all things, they still find tools useful. Their magic items are quite distinctly made to destroy and to negate life, health, and creation itself.

AMULET OF THE OUTER DARKNESS

Wondrous Item, Common

(Requires Attunement)

This deep-blue sapphire is carved with a single eye surrounded by tentacles or wavy rays. The object is always cool to the touch. You gain the ability to understand and speak Void Speech. In addition, you do not need to breathe when in an airless space (but you are still affected by gas or air effects when in an atmosphere).

BONES OF THE HOLY MYEGATHAR

Wondrous Item, Rare (Requires Attunement by a Wizard or Cleric)

The bones of a void saint are dangerous tools, often a dark-purplish color with ends or joints of pale blue, imbued with the unholy power of the Void. While holding them, you gain the ability to cast the conjure minor voidborn spell (see Deep Magic) once per day. The conjured creatures obey you so long as they are addressed using Void Speech and will remain nearby for up to 1 hour, fighting for you, guarding a location, or undertaking other tasks. In addition, you are resistant to radiant damage.

CLOAK OF THE VOID

Wondrous Item, Rare (Requires Attunement)

This cloak resembles a field of scattered stars and comets, sometimes shining with color and often in motion. While wearing this cloak, you are immune to spells of 1st to 3rd level, both beneficial and harmful spells. Spells targeting you simply seem to be absorbed and disappear into its fabric.

CRIMSON SCEPTER

Wand, Legendary (Requires Attunement by a Bard, Cleric, or Wizard)

This ancient emblem of the void takes the form of a red-gold scepter with a winding serpent along its length, worked in black opal, and topped with the skull of a void dragon wyrmling, wrapped in a black mist. Some followers of the Doombringers and the Scribes of the Black Star believe this scepter was once used by a dead god or a saint such as Myegathar, and certainly it contains vast amounts of energy.

This scepter has 12 charges for the following properties. It regains 1d8 + 1 expended charges daily at dawn. If you expend the scepter's last charge, roll a d20. On a 1, the scepter crumbles into ash and is destroyed.

Anyone holding the scepter and speaking its command word in Void Speech can perform the following actions:

Doom Weapon. By expending 1 charge, any melee weapons you hold while also wielding the Crimson Scepter are immediately empowered with an unholy red glow, and you gain a bonus action to make a melee attack, dealing an extra 2d12 necrotic damage on a hit. If the attack fails, the glow and its charged necrotic damage remain so long as you hold the Crimson Scepter and the weapon. If either is dropped, the necrotic damage vanishes.

Voidstorm. By expending 3 charges, you may generate three rays of void energy and throw them at one or more targets within 60 feet. Roll a ranged spell attack for each ray. If it hits, the target takes 1d12 necrotic damage. You can spend additional charges to increase the damage by 1d12 per additional charge spent.

Unspeakable Utterance. By expending 6 charges, you can speak an unholy word that affects all creatures within 60 feet of you. This powerful sonic attack strikes fear into the hearts of those affected and damages their sensitive tissues, causing shortness of breath, bleeding from the eyes and ears, and temporary blindness and deafness. Those within the area must make a DC 16 Constitution saving throw, taking 12d6 necrotic or psychic damage (your choice) and being blinded and deafened for 1 minute on a failed save or half that damage and no additional effects on a successful one.

Whenever 4 or more charges are expended at once, you gain 1 point of void taint. (Void taint is an optional rule from the Midgard Worldbook.)

DAGGER OF VOID STRIKING

Weapon (Dagger), Uncommon

While holding this dagger, you can speak the command word to gather writhing darkness around your hand. You can then make a ranged spell attack as a bonus action to unleash a bolt of darkness at a creature within 30 feet. If the target is in dim light or darkness, you have advantage on the roll. On a hit, the target takes 5d8 necrotic damage and is frightened until the start of your next turn.

The dagger's property can't be used again until the next dawn. In the meantime, the dagger can still be used as a magic weapon.

DOOMBRINGER'S BLADE

Weapon (Any Ax, Halberd, Sword, or Dagger), Rare (Requires Attunement)

This magic weapon resembles a slice of pure black energy surrounded by a purple or blue nimbus. You gain a +1 bonus to attack and damage rolls made with it. You can choose as a bonus action to change the damage dealt by an attack made with this weapon to necrotic.

In addition, you can use a doombringer's blade to tear a hole in reality, ripping open the planar fabric to show the void and shadow just beyond the threshold. You must slice the blade across an unoccupied area as an action, creating a 5-foot cube filled with a dark rift to the Void. Air and water immediately begin to move through the rift, and creatures adjacent to this space must immediately make a DC 14 Strength saving throw while in air or a DC 18 Strength saving throw while in water. On a successful save, they maintain their position. On a failed save, they are drawn into the space containing the rift and take 2d12 force damage. Moving out of the space is treated as moving through difficult terrain. The rift remains until it has consumed either a sentient being or enough solid material to fill a 10-foot cube. This property can't be used again until after a long rest.

EMPYREAN HALO

Wondrous Item, Very Rare (Requires Attunement)

This open-faced deep-azure helmet is set with bands of bright mithral and generates a solid black, disk-like halo around your head as a protective mark of the dark gods. While wearing this helm, you gain a +1 bonus to armor class and resistance to both fire and radiant damage.

FIGURINE OF WONDROUS POWER, MALACHITE SELANG

Wondrous Item, Rare

A figurine of wondrous power is a statuette of a beast, small enough to fit in a pocket. If you use an action to speak the command word and throw the figurine to a point on the ground within 60 feet of you, the figurine becomes a living creature. If the space where the creature would appear is occupied by other creatures or objects or if there isn't enough space for the creature, the figurine doesn't become a creature.

The creature is friendly to you and your companions. It understands your languages and obeys your spoken commands. If you issue no commands, the creature defends itself but takes no other actions.

The creature exists for a duration specific to each figurine. At the end of the duration, the creature reverts to its figurine form. It reverts to a figurine early if it drops to 0 hit points or if you use an action to speak the command word again while touching it. When the creature becomes a figurine again, its property can't be used again until a certain amount of time has passed, as specified in the figurine's description.

Malachite Selang. This malachite statuette is of a selang, prancing and playing a pan flute. It can become a selang (see Tome of Beasts) and play its alien pipes for up to 1 hour. All creatures within 60 feet that can hear it must make a successful DC 14 Wisdom saving throw or be affected by the hideous laughter spell. On a successful save, a creature is immune to the piping for 24 hours. Once it has been used, it can't be used again until 3 days have passed.

FROZEN STARRY HALF PLATE

Armor (Half Plate), Legendary
(Requires Attunement)

Said to be crafted by imbuing the hide of a void dragon with null matter and binding it with shadow, this black armor seems to contain stars, comets, and wispy, void-like veils of purple, red, and blue. You gain a +1 bonus to AC while you wear this armor. In addition, the wielder of any manufactured weapon that successfully hits you must make a DC 15 Constitution saving throw. On a failed save, the weapon deals damage normally, and if it's nonmagical, it then crumbles to dust and is destroyed, but if it's magical, it instead is sapped of all magical properties until after the wielder takes a short or long rest (though it is still considered magical, such as for overcoming damage resistance). Creatures that hit you with natural weapons, must also make the saving throw, dealing damage normally but then taking 1d12 necrotic damage on a failed save.

GRIMOIRE OF THE ELDEST

Wondrous Item, Very Rare
(Requires Attunement)

Anyone who reads this volume detailing the foundations of the cult of the void, said to be bound in leather made from human skin, gains 1 point of void taint. It contains all spells with the void or mythos keyword (see also Deep Magic) and can be used to learn any and all of them. It also functions as a direct portal to the purest essence of the Void, a source of alien wisdom that answers questions and prophesizes the future with frightening accuracy.

You can pose a question to the grimoire of the eldest, making a DC 16 Charisma saving throw. On a successful save, you know the answer, as if a commune or a legend lore spell had been cast successfully. On a failed save, you gain 1 point of void taint. This property can't be used again until after a long rest.

(Void taint is an optional rule from the Midgard Worldbook.)

HELMET OF NULLIFICATION

Wondrous Item, Very Rare
(Requires Attunement)

This helmet, covered in rust and verdigris, features glowing inlays in Void Speech. The helm has 3 charges. While wearing the helm, as an action, you can expend 1 charge to surround yourself with a 10-foot-radius invisible antimagic field, cutting you off from the magic imbuing the universe. Within the area, spells can't be cast, summoned creatures disappear, and even magic items become mundane. The effect moves with you, centered on you, and ends after 10 rounds or when you speak the command word. Wizards and clerics wearing the helmet may expend 3 charges and maintain concentration to extend the duration up to an hour. The helm regains all its charges 24 hours after its last charge is expended.

KEY OF THE STARFIELD

Wondrous Item, Rare

While you hold this item, you can propel yourself and up to four other willing creatures safely through the emptiness of the Void, with an effective flying speed of 120 feet.

MANTLE OF THE VOID LORD

Wondrous Item, Legendary

(Requires Attunement by a Cleric, Sorcerer, Warlock, or Wizard)

This luminous garment is made from rich purple cloth stitched with spirals, runes, and comets in golden thread. It has a long hood of black, trimmed in white dragon scales.

You gain the following benefits while wearing the robe:

- Creatures of the Void will not attack you while you wear the robe.
- If you aren't wearing armor, your base armor class is 14 + your Dexterity modifier.
- You can speak and understand Void Speech.
- Your spell save DC and spell attack bonus each increase by 1 for spells with the void keyword (see also Deep Magic). Targets have disadvantage on saving throws against these spells.

POTION OF VOID SURVIVAL

Potion, Rare

For 1 hour after you drink this potion, you are immune to cold and necrotic damage, and you do not require air if you are a breathing creature.

VOID CULT WARRIORS

Warriors of the various void cults are a strange lot, often armed poorly and led by fanatics. However, some of the more capable and trusted veterans are often given shields of annihilation to use against their foes. These items are enchanted fairly quickly and are quite potent but can be easily overloaded if a foe knows their weak points or simply avoids striking the shield.

SCARLET KEY

Wondrous Item, Legendary (Requires

Attunement by a Bard, Cleric, or Wizard)

When you speak the command word and turn the key while pointing it at foe wearing metallic armor, this item turns the armor molten. The wearer of any metallic armor that is targeted by the Scarlet Key must make a DC 15 Dexterity saving throw. On a failed save, the armor, if it's nonmagical, melts and is destroyed, and the target takes 6d6 fire damage, but if the armor's magical, the wearer still suffers the damage, and the armor is not destroyed but instead sapped of all magical properties until after the wearer takes a short or long rest (though it is still considered magical).

If combined with the Crimson Scepter, the Scarlet Key unlocks an eternal blue flame that dances atop the scepter, which now regains all expended charges each day at dawn, instead of its usual 1d8 + 1.

SHIELD OF ANNIHILATION

Armor (Shield), Very Rare

This entirely black shield resembles a hole in the multiverse. No light that touches it seems to escape. While you are wielding it, any weapon attack that misses you by 1 or 2 points on the roll means the weapon is blocked and annihilated by the shield. (Wielders of magical weapons are entitled to a DC 14 Dexterity saving throw to avoid the weapon's annihilation.) Artifacts are unaffected by the shield. Creatures whose natural weapons miss you by 1 or 2 points on the roll are not annihilated, but they must succeed on a DC 14 Dexterity saving throw or take 4d10 force damage.

Deliberately touching an object to annihilate it works as expected, destroying up to 2 cubic feet of material each round. However, the shield begins to glow red and purple after each single object destroyed or every 8-cubic-foot portion of a larger object it consumes. After the third object is consumed or after 24 cubic feet of matter are annihilated before taking a long rest, the shield's enchantment overloads, and the shield crumbles to dust.

SHIELD OF INFINITY

Armor (Shield), Rare (Requires Attunement)

The shield has 3 charges, and it regains 1d3 expended charges daily at dawn. If you are holding the shield, you can target a creature within 5 feet as an action. The target must succeed on a DC 15 Dexterity saving throw or be sucked into the airless void within the shield itself and be teleported 60 feet to an unoccupied space of your choice.

STAFF OF RUIN

Staff, Very Rare

(Requires Attunement by Cleric)

This staff can be wielded as a magic quarterstaff that grants a +2 bonus to attack and damage rolls made with it.

This staff has 9 charges for the following properties. It regains 1d6 + 3 expended charges daily at dawn. If you expend the staff's last charge, roll a d20. On a 1, the staff is destroyed in a fiery burst of brimstone.

Spells. While holding the staff, you can use an action to expend 1 or more of its charges to cast one of the following spells from it, using your spell save DC: black hole (9 charges, see Deep Magic), hellfire blitz (2 charges, see Deep Magic), or insect plague (5 charges).

Voice of Ruin. While holding the staff, you can use an action and expend 1 charge to empower your weapon and spell attacks. For 1 minute, all successful attacks you make against objects and constructs are treated as critical hits.

STAFF OF THE STARRY ABYSS

Staff, Very Rare (Requires Attunement by a Druid, Sorcerer, Warlock, or Wizard)

You have resistance to necrotic damage while you hold this staff.

The staff has 10 charges. It regains 1d6 + 4 charges daily at dawn. If you expend the last charge, roll a d20. On a 1, the staff crumbles to ash and is destroyed.

Spells. While holding the staff, you can use an action to expend 1 or more of its charges to cast one of the following spells from it, using your spell save DC: conjure minor voidborn (5 charges, see Deep Magic), doom of the endless void (5 charges, see below), dust and ashes (4 charges, see below), or tooth of the wyrm (1 charge, see below).

STAFF OF UNRAVELING

Wand, Rare (Requires Attunement by a Bard, Cleric, Druid, Sorcerer, Warlock, or Wizard)

This staff has 7 charges for the following properties. It regains 1d6 + 1 expended charges daily at dawn. If you expend the staff's last charge, roll a d20. On a 1, the staff crumbles to ash and is destroyed.

Spells. While holding the staff, you can use an action to expend 1 or more of its charges to cast one of the following spells from it, using your spell save DC: banishment (5 charges) or dispel magic (2 charges).

Unravel Matter. With this staff, you can disintegrate any non-magical object weighing less than 1 pound by expending a charge and speaking the command word.

Unravel Creature. By expending 2 charges and speaking the command word, you can choose a creature that you can see within 30 feet. The creature must make a Constitution saving throw. The DC for this saving throw equals 8 + your Constitution modifier + your proficiency bonus. A creature that fails the saving throw must use its action each turn to repeat the saving throw as it attempts to keep itself in one piece. On a successful save, the effect ends on the target. Once you use this feature, you cannot do so again until you complete a long rest.

Spells from the Void

Void magic in its purest form—those spells with the void keyword—is the domain of wizards only (see also Deep Magic) due to the intense focus and study demanded. However, thanks to the work of the collective cloisters of the Outer Darkness, much of what has been learned from the Void has been greatly distilled and made accessible to a wider variety of spellcasters, bringing the end of things that much closer by ensuring more curious fingers have access to the Void's influence.

BLOOD & DOOM MAGIC

The magics of blood and doom—these two styles of magic are often considered related, but their practitioners and their methods are quite distinct. Blood magic draws on blood sacrifices and empowers spells using the vitality of living creatures, and usually the number of creatures affected is quite small. Doom magic, on the other hand, uses the apocalyptic power of the Void to affect multiple creatures with destructive or harmful effect, usually including the caster as a target (for doom is unavoidable).

For most casters, these spells must be found, rather than known automatically when gaining a level. Void Speech is required to cast them, and the GM may also require that a caster either have the Void Channeler or Void Scribe feat or be a member of a void cult or the Void Savant subclass (see Midgard Worldbook for these feats and subclasses).

DOOM OF DESTINY

2nd-Level Enchantment (Cleric, Wizard)

Casting Time: 1 action

Range: 30 feet

Components: V, S, M (a cracked mirror)

Duration: Concentration, up to 1 minute

Up to three creatures of your choice that you can see within range must make Charisma saving throws. Whenever a target that fails this saving throw makes an attack roll or a saving throw before the spell ends, the target rolls with disadvantage.

At Higher Levels. When you cast this spell using a spell slot of 3rd level or higher, you can target one additional creature for each slot level above 2nd.

DOOM OF FOOLS

1st-Level Necromancy (Bard, Wizard)

Casting Time: 1 action

Range: Self (10-foot radius)

Components: V, S, M (a small bell)

Duration: Concentration, up to 1 minute

All creatures within 10 feet of you must make a Wisdom saving throw. You must also make this save. On a failed save, targets become inept for the duration of the spell. When you cast this spell, choose one of the following:

- Choose one ability score. While doomed, the target has disadvantage on ability checks and saving throws made with that ability score.
- While doomed, the target falls prone at the start of each round, and its speed is halved.
- While doomed, the target must make a Wisdom saving throw at the start of each of its turns. If it fails, it wastes its action that turn, doing nothing.

At Higher Levels. When you cast this spell using a spell slot of 2nd level or higher, the duration is up to 10 minutes. If you use a spell slot of 3rd level or higher, the duration is up to 8 hours. Using a spell slot of 4th level or higher grants a duration that doesn't require concentration.

DOOM OF LAUGHTER

3rd-Level Enchantment (Bard, Wizard)

Casting Time: 1 action

Range: Self (10-foot radius)

Components: V, S, M (a chicken doll)

Duration: Concentration, up to 1 minute

All creatures within range (including you) perceive everything as hilariously funny and fall into fits of laughter if this spell affects them. The targets must make a Wisdom saving throw. You must also make this save. On a failed save, targets fall prone, becoming incapacitated and unable to stand up for the duration. Creatures with an Intelligence score of 4 or less are not affected. At the end of each of its turns, and each time it takes damage, a target can make another Wisdom saving throw. The target has advantage on the saving throw if it's triggered by damage. On a success, the spell's effect ends.

DOOM OF NIGHT

6th-Level Conjuration (Wizard)

Casting Time: 1 action

Range: 120 feet

Components: V, S, M (a vial of shadow dust)

Duration: Concentration, up to 10 minutes

You create a 30-foot-radius sphere of pulsing, luminous purple mist centered on a point you choose within range. This area is heavily obscured. When a creature enters the spell's area for the first time on a turn or starts its turn there, that creature must make a Constitution saving throw, taking 5d12 necrotic damage on a failed save or half as much damage on a successful one. Creatures are affected even if they hold their breath or don't need to breathe. After leaving the mist, the creature takes 5 points of necrotic damage per round until it succeeds on a Constitution saving throw or dies.

At Higher Levels. When you cast this spell using a spell slot of 7th level or higher, the damage increases by 1d12 for each slot level above 6th. The follow-on damage increases by 1 point for each slot level above 6th.

DOOM OF THE BLACK RIVER

4th-Level Transmutation (Druid, Wizard)

Casting Time: 1 action

Range: Self (10-foot radius)

Components: V, S, M (marsh water)

Duration: Instantaneous

You speak a word of unmaking that devours all wood and leather in the area, destroying leather armor, shield straps, spear shafts, arrows, bows, staves, clubs, and so forth, including your own items. Objects made of other materials, such as linen, wool, glass, and metals, are unaffected. Items that are worn or held gain a collective Dexterity saving throw by the wearer. On a successful save, none of that wearer's items are affected. Magical items are never affected by this spell.

DOOM OF THE ENDLESS VOID

6th-Level Transmutation (Void) (Wizard)

Casting Time: 1 action

Range: Self

Components: V, S, M (iron filings and a vial of acid)

Duration: Concentration

You open a rift into the Void itself, tearing apart reality around you. All creatures within 20 feet of you must make a Constitution saving throw. You must also make this save. On a failed save, the target takes $6d6 + 20$ force damage. If this damage reduces the target to 0 hit points, it is disintegrated. A disintegrated creature and everything it is wearing and carrying, except magic items, are reduced to a pile of fine gray dust. The creature can be restored to life only by means of a true resurrection or wish spell. This spell automatically disintegrates a Large or smaller nonmagical object or a creation of magical force. If the target is a Huge or larger object or creation of force, this spell disintegrates a 10-foot-cube portion of it each round. A magic item is unaffected by this spell.

If you maintain concentration on the spell, the same saving throw is required again on your next turn—you must make your saving throw before any target creatures do. If the spell kills you, the effect ends immediately.

DUST AND ASHES

4th-Level Transmutation (Wizard)

Casting Time: 1 action

Range: 30 feet

Components: V, S, M (a ball of crumbly dirt)

Duration: Instantaneous

A thin green ray springs from your pointing finger to a target that you can see within range. The target can be any nonmagical physical object, to a maximum size of 10 feet on a side. If the target is held by a creature, that creature must make a Dexterity saving throw. On a failed save, the disintegrated object is reduced to a pile of fine gray dust. This spell automatically and completely disintegrates a Large or smaller nonmagical object or a creation of magical force. If the target is a Huge or larger object or creation of force, this spell disintegrates a 10-foot-cube portion of it. A magic item is unaffected by this spell.

At Higher Levels. When you cast this spell using a spell slot of 5th level or higher, the object size increases by another 10-foot-cube for each slot level above 4th.

LAST STRIKE

1st-Level Abjuration (Cleric, Paladin, Wizard)

Casting Time: 1 reaction, which you take when you drop to 0 hit points as a result of taking damage

Range: Self

Components: V, S

Duration: 1 round

You grant yourself a last burst of energy when deeply wounded. Before you fall unconscious, you gain one action. Any roll you make, such as for an ability check or attack, has advantage. You automatically fail your first death saving throw.

NIDHOGG'S BLESSING

3rd-Level Transmutation

(Bard, Cleric, Druid, Sorcerer, Wizard)

Casting Time: 1 action

Range: 60 feet

Components: V, S, M (plate of satarre chitin)

Duration: Concentration, up to 1 hour

This spell transforms a creature that you can see within range into a new form beloved of the Void. An unwilling creature must make a Wisdom saving throw to avoid the effect. A shapechanger automatically succeeds on this saving throw. The transformation lasts for the duration or until the target drops to 0 hit points or dies. If the target is willing, it can retain the new form for 1 day. The new form can be either a satarre destroyer (see Tome of Beast 2), satarre mystic (see Tome of Beast 2), for a creature with spells or spell-like abilities, or a selang (see Tome of Beast), for a creature that already knows Void Speech. The target's statistics, including mental ability scores and hit points, are replaced by the statistics of the chosen creature. The target retains its alignment and personality.

When it reverts to its original form, the creature returns to the number of hit points it had before it transformed. If it reverts as a result of dropping to 0 hit points, any excess damage carries over to its normal form. As long as the excess damage doesn't reduce the creature's normal form to 0 hit points, it isn't knocked unconscious. The creature is limited in the actions it can perform by the nature of its new form, and it can't speak, except for Void Speech, or cast spells, except those with the void keyword. The target's gear melds into the new form, so the creature can't activate, use, wield, or otherwise benefit from any of its equipment.

SHADOW SHIELD

2nd-Level Abjuration (Sorcerer, Wizard)

Casting Time: 1 reaction, which you take when you are hit by an attack or targeted by the magic missile spell

Range: Self

Components: V, S

Duration: 1 round

A misty black barrier of magical force appears and protects you. Until the start of your next turn, you have a +8 bonus to AC, including against the triggering attack, and you are immune to force and radiant damage.

STAR DRAGON'S RADIANCE

3rd-Level Abjuration (Cleric, Wizard)

Casting Time: 1 action

Range: Self

Components: V, S, M (a scale from a void dragon)

Duration: Concentration, up to 1 minute

While you invoke this spell, it creates an aura in a 10-foot radius centered on you. You and all creatures friendly to you in the aura have advantage on Wisdom saving throws.

TOOTH OF THE WYRM

2nd-Level Necromancy (Cleric, Wizard)

Casting Time: 1 action

Range: Touch

Components: V, S, M (a dragon's tooth)

Duration: Concentration, up to 1 minute

You make a melee attack to touch a target creature with the material component, and a tiny wound appears that grows larger each round. The target takes 1 necrotic damage when touched, and if you maintain concentration, the target must make a Constitution saving throw each turn thereafter. If the save fails, the creature takes double the damage of the prior round (2 damage in the 2nd round, then 4, 8, 16, 32, and so on up to 512 after 1 minute and nine failed saving throws).

The effect can be removed with lesser restoration.

TRUTH OF THE VOID

1st-Level Illusion (Bard, Cleric, Sorcerer, Wizard)

Casting Time: 1 action

Range: 120 feet

Components: V, S, M (an empty eggshell)

Duration: Instantaneous

You display a vision of the void and project feelings of hopelessness and despair. The target must succeed on a Wisdom saving throw or become frightened of you, drop whatever it is holding, and take the Dash action to move away from you by the safest available route on its turn, unless there is nowhere to move.

WIND OF THE OUTER VOID

4th-Level Evocation (Cleric, Wizard)

Casting Time: 1 action

Range: Self

Components: V, S, M (a fragment of a meteor or a piece of meteoric iron or stone)

Duration: Concentration, up to 1 minute

You call forth a chilling presence from beyond the mortal world, forming it into a wall of frozen horror. You can make either a straight wall up to 60 feet long, 10 feet high, and 10 feet wide or a ringed wall up to 20 feet in diameter, 10 feet high, and 5 feet thick. The wall provides half cover to creatures behind it, and its space is difficult terrain. When a creature enters the wall's area for the first time on a turn or starts its turn there, the creature must make a Dexterity saving throw. On a failed save, the creature takes 3d10 cold damage and is frightened of you until the end of its next turn. On a successful save, the creature takes half as much damage and is not frightened.

WORD OF UNMAKING

Transmutation Cantrip

(Bard, Cleric, Druid, Sorcerer, Wizard)

Casting Time: 1 minute

Range: Touch

Components: V, S, M (a chisel)

Duration: Instantaneous

This spell destroys a single small object you touch, such as a key, a dagger, or a wineskin. The object must weigh less than 2 pounds and be no larger than 1 foot in any dimension. This spell has no effect on magical items or items of mithral or adamantite and has no effect on objects held by another creature.

IT CAME FROM THE VOID: SPELLS FROM BEYOND

by Kelly Pawlik

The tainted mass of the Void can be manipulated by only the most depraved and determined of individuals. Those few who meet these criteria find a limitless and flexible source of power, so long as their aims lead to corruption and ruin. The spells presented herein are intended to supplement those presented in Deep Magic and follow all of the rules presented in that book, including being available only to wizards.

Void Magic

All spells with the void keyword have a verbal component and must be uttered in Void Speech, which cannot be precluded by use of any other feat, feature, or spell.

ABILITY LEECH

3rd-Level Necromancy (Void) (Wizard)

Casting Time: 1 action

Range: 30 feet

Components: V, S, M (a speck of dust from a meteorite)

Duration: Instantaneous

Choose a creature you can see within range. Your target must succeed on a Wisdom saving throw or expend one use of one of its features of its choice that recharges after a short or long rest. The target gains no benefit or effect of expending the feature.

If the target expends uses from a pool of points that recover after a short or long rest, such as Sorcery Points or Superiority Dice, they expend 1d4 points from the pool. Features expended through the effects of this spell are recovered through rest as normal.

AMORPHOUS FORM

4th-Level Transmutation (Void) (Wizard)

Casting Time: 1 action

Range: Touch

Components: V, S, M (a drop of ooze)

Duration: Concentration, up to 10 minutes

A Large or smaller creature you touch becomes a gray ooze. An unwilling target can make a Constitution saving throw at the end of each of its turns to end the effect and resume its normal form. A willing target can choose to become unwilling at any point of the duration and can make a saving throw at the end of its next turn after becoming unwilling. While under the effect of this spell, a creature retains its size, general shape, and alignment and its Intelligence, Wisdom, and Charisma ability scores but otherwise has the statistics of a gray ooze. If the spell ends because the duration elapses, the target is permanently transformed into a gray ooze.

At Higher Levels. If you cast this spell using a 6th-level slot, the target transforms into your choice of a gelatinous cube or an ochre jelly instead of a gray ooze. If cast using an 8th-level slot, the target becomes a black pudding instead of a gray ooze.

BODY OF RUIN

8th-Level Evocation (Void) (Wizard)

Casting Time: 1 action

Range: 60 feet

Components: V, S, M (a fingerprint pressed onto iron)

Duration: Concentration, up to 1 minute

Choose a humanoid you can see within range. The target must make a Constitution saving throw or become infused with a shard of the Void. For the duration, at the beginning of each of the target's turns, it must choose to internalize the wave of energy rising within it or to release it. If the energy is internalized, the target takes 4d10 force damage. If the target chooses to instead release the energy, it takes no damage, but all creatures within 10 feet of it must make a Constitution saving throw, taking 4d10 force damage on a failed save or half as much damage on a successful one.

If a creature is reduced to 0 hit points by this spell, it is disintegrated.

At Higher Levels. If you cast this spell using a 9th-level slot, no concentration is required.

CLUTCH OF DESOLATION

2nd-Level Necromancy (Void) (Wizard)

Casting Time: 1 action

Range: 30 feet

Components: V, S, M (a burned wishbone)

Duration: Concentration, up to 1 minute

A flexible beam of dead black energy erupts from you, seeking to tether to you a creature you can see within range. The target must succeed on a Strength saving throw or become tethered and unable to move farther than 30 feet away from you. While tethered to a target, you have advantage on any ability check, attack roll, and saving throw involving the target. At the end of each of its turns, an affected creature can make a new saving throw to break the tether.

CORRUPTING SHEATHE

2nd-Level Conjuration (Void) (Wizard)

Casting Time: 1 bonus action

Range: Self

Components: V, S

Duration: 1 minute

Your body is slicked with caustic slime. A creature that hits you with a melee weapon attack or an unarmed strike takes 2d6 acid damage. In addition, while under the effects of this spell, a creature that makes a melee attack against you with a nonmagical manufactured weapon that rolls a natural 1 on an attack roll loses that weapon as it decays and is destroyed.

DECAY OBJECT

Transmutation Cantrip (Void) (Wizard)

Casting Time: 1 action

Range: 10 feet

Components: V, S

Duration: Instantaneous

You cause an object to quickly erode. Choose one unattended, nonmagical object that can fit into a 1-foot cube within range that you can see. The object takes on a slimy texture and becomes pitted and unusable.

An unattended object is one that is not being carried or wielded by another creature. Complex objects made of multiple moving pieces cannot be targeted by this cantrip, nor can small pieces that are part of a larger whole. For example, this cantrip can affect an unattended dagger but has no effect on a lock.

DRAIN VITALITY

1st-Level Necromancy (Void) (Wizard)

Casting Time: 1 action

Range: 60 feet

Components: V, S, M (a drop of blackened blood)

Duration: Instantaneous

You sap a creature's ability to refresh itself through rest. Choose one humanoid you can see within range. The target must succeed on a Constitution saving throw or lose one Hit Die. A target of this spell that has no Hit Dice instead gains one level of exhaustion on a failed save. A target cannot gain more than one level of exhaustion in a day as a result of being targeted by this spell. The target that loses Hit Dice regains them at the usual rate upon finishing a long rest.

At Higher Levels. The target loses an additional Hit Die for each slot level above 1st used to cast this spell. A creature cannot lose Hit Dice and gain levels of exhaustion with the same casting of this spell.

ECLIPSE SIGHT

1st-Level Necromancy (Void) (Wizard)

Casting Time: 1 reaction, which you take in response to being damaged by a creature within 60 feet of you that you can see

Range: 60 feet

Components: V

Duration: Instantaneous

You snarl a curse in Void Speech at the creature that damaged you, shrouding its sight using the Void. The creature makes a Constitution saving throw. If it fails, it is blinded until the end of its next turn.

At Higher Levels. If you cast this spell using a 2nd-level or higher slot, the blindness persists until the end of your next turn.

EMPTY RAIN

5th-Level Conjuration (Void) (Wizard)

Casting Time: 1 action

Range: 60 feet

Components: V, S, M (a raindrop)

Duration: Concentration, up to 1 minute

A frigid, draining rain falls in a 10-foot-radius, 40-foot-high cylinder centered on a point you specify within range. Each creature that starts its turn in the area or enters the area for the first time on its turn must make a Constitution saving throw, taking 3d8 cold and 3d8 necrotic damage on a failed save and half as much damage on a successful one. A creature that fails its saving throw is also prohibited from casting spells while it is within the area and until the beginning of its next turn after leaving the area.

At Higher Levels. If you cast this with a slot of 6th-level or higher, you deal an extra 2d8 cold or necrotic damage (your choice) for each slot level above 5th.

EVENT HORIZON

7th-Level Evocation (Void) (Wizard)

Casting Time: 1 action

Range: 90 feet

Components: V, S, M (a shard of meteoric iron)

Duration: Concentration, up to 1 minute

You form a mild gravity well around a creature. Choose a Large or smaller creature you can see within range. All creatures of your choice within 15 feet of the target must succeed on a Strength saving throw or be restrained. A restrained creature that starts its turn within 15 feet of the target can use its action on its turn to make a Strength check against your spell save DC to stop being restrained and move away from the target.

If the target moves, all restrained creatures within 15 feet of it move as well, maintaining the same distance and position from the target if possible. If an object or creature already occupies that space, the creature moves to the nearest empty space to it. Restrained creatures that move as a result of the target's movement are considered to use their own movement and draw opportunity attacks as normal.

A creature that is restrained by the target at the end of its turn ages 1 year. The target ages 1 year per creature restrained by it at the time the spell ends.

FLASH FREEZE

6th-Level Evocation (Void) (Wizard)

Casting Time: 1 action

Range: 60 feet

Components: V, S

Duration: Instantaneous

You expose all the creatures within 10 feet of a point you choose that you can see within range to the frigid heart of the Void. A creature in the area must make a Dexterity saving throw, taking 3d6 cold and 2d6 necrotic damage on a successful save. On a failed save, the creature takes the same amount of damage and is restrained in a block of slimy black ice. A creature that is restrained in ice cannot breathe and must hold its breath or begin to suffocate. It can make a Strength check against your spell save DC to break free of the ice, or it can be broken out. An ice block has AC 13, 27 hit points, is vulnerable to fire damage, and immune to cold, necrotic, poison, and psychic damage.

At Higher Levels. If cast using a 7th-level or higher slot, you deal an extra 2d6 cold damage for each slot level above 6th.

HEART OF THE DEAD STAR

9th-Level Transmutation (Void) (Wizard)

Casting Time: 1 action

Range: 120 feet

Components: V, S, M (a 1 lb. chunk of iron ore that is not consumed in the casting)

Duration: Concentration, up to 1 minute

You form a gravity well around a creature. Choose a Large or smaller creature you can see within range. All creatures within 5 feet of the target, and other creatures of your choice within 20 feet of the target, must make a Strength saving throw or move to within 5 feet of the target. If there are no empty spaces within 5 feet of the target, the creature must move within 5 feet of a creature that is within 5 feet of the target. A creature that starts its turn within 10 feet of the target is restrained and takes 3d12 bludgeoning damage. It can use its action to make a Strength check against your spell save DC to stop being restrained and move away from the target.

When the spell ends, all creatures within 10 feet of the target are shoved 20 feet away from it and fall prone. A creature standing in the path of a shoved creature or in the space it lands in must make a Dexterity saving throw or take 2d6 bludgeoning damage and be knocked prone. A shoved creature that strikes another creature or object takes 2d6 bludgeoning damage.

KING OF NOTHING

6th-Level Enchantment (Void) (Wizard)

Casting Time: 1 action

Range: 60 feet

Components: V, S, M (a vial of a humanoid's breath)

Duration: Concentration, up to 1 minute

You steal a creature's sense of self. Choose a humanoid you can see within range. At the beginning of each of its turns, the target must make a Charisma saving throw, taking 4d6 psychic damage on a failed saving throw or half as much damage on a successful one.

If the target's hit points are reduced below half its maximum, it becomes insubstantial and hazy. Nonmagical weapon attacks made against it have disadvantage, and it cannot make weapon attacks against other creatures.

If the target dies while under the effects of this spell, it fades away to nothingness and cannot be restored to life by any means short of a wish spell or direct intercession of a deity.

PERSONAL CANNIBAL

4th-Level Transmutation (Void) (Wizard)

Casting Time: 1 action

Range: Self

Components: V, S, M (desiccated blackberry)

Duration: 1 minute

You empower your intellect at the expense of your body and personal charm. For the duration, whenever you make an Intelligence check, Intelligence saving throw, or spell attack, roll 1d8 and add the result to your total. You also add the result of a 1d8 roll to your spell save DCs.

Conversely, for the duration, and for 1d4 hours following the end of the spell, whenever you make a Strength, Dexterity, or Charisma check or saving throw, roll 1d6 and deduct the result from your total.

At Higher Levels. If cast using a 6th-level slot, you can add 1d10 to your Intelligence checks, Intelligence saving throws, spell attacks, and spell save DCs, instead of 1d8. If you cast this spell using an 8th-level slot, increase the die to 1d12 instead of 1d8.

SIGIL IN YELLOW

8th-Level Enchantment (Ritual, Void) (Wizard)

Casting Time: 1 hour

Range: Touch

Components: V, S, M (ochre paint, and powdered adamantite worth at least 500 gp)

Duration: Until dispelled or triggered

When you cast this spell, you paint a sigil either upon a surface (such as on a wall or an object) or within an object that can be closed (such as in a book, treasure chest, or cabinet) to conceal the sigil. Regardless of where it is placed, the sigil must be a minimum of 6 inches in diameter and can be no larger than 10 feet in diameter.

A humanoid that gazes upon the sigil must succeed on a Wisdom saving throw or be forced to stare at it for 1 minute. If you are on the same plane of existence as the creature gazing at the sigil, you are alerted to their attention and can choose to do one of the following things:

- Perceive the target's surroundings using its senses.
- Read the target's surface thoughts and determine what was on its mind the moment before its attention was seized by the sigil. On subsequent rounds, you can dig deeper into the target's mind and gain insight into its emotional state and one item that looms large in its mind. If you choose this latter option, the target can make a new Wisdom saving throw, freeing itself of your influence on a success.

- Take total and precise control of the target. On its turn, the target takes only the actions you choose and doesn't do anything you don't allow it to do. Each time the target takes damage, it makes a new saving throw, freeing itself of your influence on a success.
- You can use your action on each of your turns to change the effect the sigil has on the target. You remain connected to the target for 1 week or until it frees itself of your influence.

UNFATHOMABLE EMPTINESS

9th-Level Divination (Void) (Wizard)

Casting Time: 1 action

Range: 30 feet

Components: V, S, M (bead from an abacus)

Duration: Instantaneous

You force a creature to consider its insignificance. You impart all the mathematical and statistical information regarding the distance between the target's home world and all celestial bodies within the Void. This information is then multiplied by the mass of all of those celestial bodies, divided by the size of the Void, and compared to the size and mass of the target. The target must make an Intelligence saving throw, becoming blinded, frightened, incapacitated, poisoned, and stunned on a failed save or simply stunned on a successful one. As an action, the target can make a Charisma saving throw to regain some of its sense of equilibrium and shed itself of one of the conditions imparted by the spell.

WEIGHTY RESTRAINTS

5th-Level Conjuration (Void) (Wizard)

Casting Time: 1 action

Range: Touch

Components: V, S, M (a pair of manacles that are not consumed in the casting)

Duration: 8 hours

You infuse a pair of manacles that a creature is wearing with the mass and empty magnitude of the Void. The creature wearing the manacles gains four levels of exhaustion while restrained by them. A creature restrained by the manacles cannot gain more levels of exhaustion, and it cannot lose levels of exhaustion by finishing a long rest. The manacles can be removed by making a Dexterity (thieves' tools) check against your spell save DC. If the tools are not magical, the check is made with disadvantage. A creature can only be affected by one pair of manacles enchanted by this spell at a time.

VOIDSHIPS: TO THE VOID AND BACK

by Brian Suskind and Ben McFarland

Aerial vessels such as the flying cities of the Sikkim, the dwarven balloons, and even the questionable kobold-crafted ships, while certainly not common, generate excited commentary in taverns and market squares across Midgard. Even rarer though are the crafts that soar above these atmospheric constructs to venture into the Void (called also Ginnungagap), where the glittering planar spheres hang in the branches of Yggdrasil.

Sailing the Void

When the war ended and the gods stood victorious over the body of their progenitor, Aurgelmir, the final breath of the first giant drifted into the Void. As the breath reflected from the planes and danced among the leaves of the World Tree, it fractured into long, flowing currents between various locations, swirling and eddying unexpectedly in others.

Known as Ymir's Rattle, these "winds" function like swiftly moving rivers of air in the Void, allowing ships equipped with arcane voidhelms to travel at great speed. The strongest currents push objects away from their routes, leaving their course free from natural obstacles. Apart from the currents, patterns of wind revolve around the World Tree and the planes, providing enough propulsion for voidships to function like seafaring vessels.

Midgard's Sphere. Seen from the outside, Midgard hangs from the World Tree like a glittering crystal ornament. Inside the membranous planar barrier, Midgard's planar sphere contains the disk of the world itself and the sun, eight moons, and five planets that orbit it.

Conditions in the Void. The Void is not a vacuum of absolute zero temperatures (unlike space around our own world). The conditions of Ginnungagap are more like those atop the highest mountains. While there is breathable air, it is very thin and not enough to support humanoid life, and cold weather gear must be used to fend off the frigidness that averages around -30 degrees Fahrenheit.

There is no real gravity in this Realm Beyond. Large objects, planes, and the World Tree itself all generate their own gravitational fields. Gravity extends 1 mile from the outer surface of an object without an atmosphere, such as an asteroid, or 5 miles from the edge of the atmosphere of a planet or object possessing an atmosphere.

Though dark, the Void is by no means a lightless space. The World Tree glows with an eternal radiance. The planar spheres reflect this luminescence like crystal ornaments, and the living stars (see Creature Codex) wander the dark, providing their own brilliance. Illumination similar to a night with a half-moon is typical.

Voidsails. Traditional sails provide the actual propulsion for a voidship. Within an atmosphere, the sails use terrestrial winds, and outside of an atmosphere, they catch Ymir's Rattle. Either way, a ship's forward speed and maneuverability is the same regardless of what winds the sails use. The exception to this rule is when traveling at voidspeed (see below).

Arcane Helms. The vessels that sail the black use magical ships' helms to guide them through air and space. When placed aboard a ship, an arcane voidhelm generates a bubble of artificial gravity and breathable air around that ship. Moreover, the helm allows the ship to levitate and travel at a special movement rate called voidspeed.

Voidspeed Navigation and Travel Time.

This magically faster-than-light travel allows a vessel to move at the unimaginable speed of the swiftly moving currents of the Void winds. When traveling at voidspeed, a vessel follows the course of the wind's current, abstractly rendered as a straight line, and can't maneuver. Voidships must drop to

VOIDHELMS

Though there are many varieties with greater or lesser abilities, a basic magical ship's helm is described below.

ARCANE VOIDHELM

Wondrous Item, Rare (Requires Attunement)

This ornate ship's wheel or tiller is fashioned of glyph-inscribed wood with crystal inlays, and it functions to provide levitation and maneuverability for a vessel in the Void.

Passive Properties. The following properties of the helm come into play even when no creature is attuned to it:

- When placed aboard a vessel, the helm generates a bubble of breathable air and gravity around the ship. This bubble extends from the hull in all directions out to a distance equal to the length of the ship. The temperature within the bubble is comfortable and life sustaining. Creatures and objects that fall overboard bob in the bubble as if it were water. While underway, the area between the hull and the edge of the bubble is subject to the relative speed of the vessel (to a maximum equal to the ship's normal maximum speed) and is shielded from any effects of traveling at voidspeed.

Active Properties. While attuned to the helm, you have the sensation of a harmless electrical charge running over your skin. You gain the following abilities when you grasp the helm:

- You can use the helm to levitate the ship (moving upward or downward relative to the current orientation of the vessel) at a rate equal to the ship's normal speed.
- You can steer the vessel in much the same way as the tiller or wheel can maneuver a seafaring ship.
- As an action, you can bring the vessel to voidspeed as long as it is outside of a gravity well. You can use another action to drop out of voidspeed and resume normal momentum. When a vessel drops out of voidspeed, it begins the turn traveling at its normal maximum speed. A vessel moving at voidspeed that enters a gravity well uncontrollably drops to normal speed. All creatures on the vessel must make a DC 15 Constitution saving throw, suffering 10d10 force damage on a failed saving throw or half as much damage on a successful one.

normal speed to make any course change before resuming a journey at voidspeed. Thus, a chart of a vessel traveling at voidspeed resembles a series of long straight lines, interspersed by course changes at normal speed.

Captains and navigators typically use Midgard's cardinal directions (north, east, west, and south) with the World Tree as the center of the compass. Traveling up the trunk is called crownward while down the trunk is rootward. Notable sites act as navigational markers, like the prominent ratatosk community of Grenstad or the massive black-iron spike and its fluttering rope fragment where Wotan hung to gain the knowledge of runes.

The time to travel the millions of miles at voidspeed is swift but not instantaneous since the wind currents change course as they ebb and flow. A vessel's travel time depends on whether it sails within a planar sphere or outside of one:

- Within a planar sphere (but outside a gravity well), travel from one celestial object to another takes 1d3 days with 1d2 – 1 stops at normal speed to maneuver.
- Outside of a planar sphere, travel takes 1d20 + 3 days to travel from one planar location to another with 1d6 – 1 stops at normal speed to maneuver.

PSYCHIC BEACON

Wondrous Item, Rare

A silver bell set with a series of eight removable stones, this item comes with a small, padded mallet. Stones are attuned to the bell and can be detached and given away. When the mallet is used to strike the bell, a ringing is heard from all detached stones when they're held to your ear. This ringing is audible across any distance and even to other planes of existence and persists until the stone is brought back to the bell and placed in its setting. If you hold a stone and concentrate for a full round, you discern the general direction and distance from your stone to the bell. You may also, once per long rest, use a sending effect, transmitting your message to the bell and other stones.

Voidship captains often give a stone to other ship captains in their flotillas or to leaders of groups sent ashore, allowing them to find and communicate with the ship if separated or in trouble.

Brave travelers through the Void often come into conflict with the voidships and flotillas of the folk of Leng or the spiders of Leng, dispatching from driftworlds splintered from Yggdrasil or launching into the black from the arachnid hivewebs, or worse, the techno-organic spheres of the ahu-nixta. Below are examples of each.

Voidships of the Arachni

The arachnoid voidships of the spiders of Leng all feature long, chitinous leg-masts adorned with spidersilk sails. The websteel hulls are constructed around the admonae, a living spider at the heart of the ship, using a process that renders the silk as hard as steel.

ARACNO-CARRACK

Light and nimble, this spider-like vessel features a wheel on the raised forecastle and a large main deck. Two arachnoid arms stretch forward from the hull, and four other legs, hung with silken sails, curve backward.

ARACNO-CARRACK

Gargantuan Vehicle (200 ft. by 40 ft.), Organic

Creature Capacity 15 crew, 100 passengers

Cargo Capacity 250 tons

Travel Pace 5 miles per hour (120 miles per day), voidspeed

STR	DEX	CON	INT	WIS	CHA

Damage Immunities poison, psychic

Condition Immunities blinded, charmed, deafened, exhaustion, frightened, incapacitated, paralyzed, petrified, poisoned, prone, stunned, unconscious

Grasping Arms. The forward-facing arms of the ship shoot a pair of webbing tendrils to grapple objects. The tendrils can be attacked (AC 20; 20 hp; immunity to poison and psychic damage). Destroying a tendril deals no damage to the ship. A tendril can also be broken if a creature uses an action to break it (DC 20 Strength check).

ACTIONS

On its turn, the ship can take three actions, choosing from the options below. It can take only two actions if it has fewer than 20 crew and only one action if it has fewer than 10 crew. It can't take these actions if it has fewer than three crew.

Fire Ballista. The ship can fire its Ballista.

Fire Webbing Grappler. The ship can fire its Webbing Grappler.

Reel in Grappler. The ship can haul in the Webbing Grappler.

MOVEMENT: SAILS

Armor Class 12

Hit Points 100; -5 ft. speed per 25 damage taken

Speed 50 ft.; 20 ft. while sailing into the wind; 65 ft. while sailing with the wind

WEAPON: BALLISTA (×3)

120/480 ft., one target. Hit: 16 (3d10) piercing damage.

WEAPON: WEBBING GRAPPLER

Armor Class 15

Hit Points 50

Ranged Weapon Attack: +6 to hit, range 200/800 ft. (can't hit targets within 60 ft. of it), one target. Hit: The target vessel is restrained and must succeed on a DC 14 Strength saving throw, or it can't move away from the carrack. The vessel may spend actions to pull vessels restrained by its Webbing Grappler up to 100 feet straight toward it.

Voidships of the Folk of Leng

Lengfolk voidships are swift galleys constructed of rare woods and richly appointed amenities, well suited to their roles as dimensional merchants. While fast vessels, they do not maneuver as well as the ships of other races.

LENGFOLK BRIGANTINE

The long, angular black hull is fitted with split, lateen-rigged masts and orange sails. The decks of the vessel are sheltered by closely set metal fabric canopies.

LENGFOLK BRIGANTINE

Gargantuan Vehicle (130 ft. by 20 ft.), Inorganic

Creature Capacity 80 crew, 40 passengers

Cargo Capacity 150 tons

Travel Pace 6 miles per hour (144 miles per day), voidspeed

STR	DEX	CON	INT	WIS	CHA
24 (+7)	4 (-3)	20 (+5)	0	0	0

Damage Immunities poison, psychic

Condition Immunities blinded, charmed, deafened, exhaustion, frightened, incapacitated, paralyzed, petrified, poisoned, prone, stunned, unconscious

Unseen Passage. When not actively in motion and not moored at a dock, the Lengfolk voidship blends in with its surroundings. Any Wisdom (Perception) check made to spot a stationary Lengfolk voidship at a distance of more than 30 feet have disadvantage. Pilots attempting to fly a voidship stealthily have advantage on checks made to remain unnoticed.

ACTIONS

On its turn, the ship can take three actions, choosing from the options below. It can take only two actions if it has fewer than 40 crew and only one action if it has fewer than 20. It can't take these actions if it has fewer than three crew.

Fire Etheric Ballista. The ship can fire its Ballista.

Slumbering Mangonel. The ship can fire its Mangonel.

Move. The ship can use its helm to move with its sails.

HULL

Armor Class 15

Hit Points 500 (damage threshold 20)

CONTROL: VOIDHELM

Armor Class 16

Hit Points 50

Move up to the ship's speed with one 90-degree turn. If the helm is destroyed, the ship can't turn.

MOVEMENT: SAILS

Armor Class 12

Hit Points 100; -10 ft. speed per 25 damage taken

Speed 60 ft.; 30 ft. while sailing into the wind; 75 ft. while sailing with the wind

WEAPON: ETHERIC BALLISTA (x2)

Armor Class 15

Hit Points 50

Ranged Weapon Attack: +8 to hit, range 120/480 ft., one target. Hit: 20 (4d10) necrotic damage. Armor and damage threshold has no effect against the attack roll of the Etheric Ballista, and only the Dexterity modifier factored into the target's AC is considered.

WEAPON: SLUMBERING MANGONEL (x2)

Armor Class 15

Hit Points 50

Ranged Weapon Attack: +8 to hit, range 200/800 ft. (can't hit targets within 60 ft. of it), one target. Hit: 27 (5d10) bludgeoning damage. Creatures within 5 feet of the target must make a DC 14 Constitution save or fall asleep for 1d4 minutes. They may make a new saving throw if another creature attempts to wake them.

Voidships of the Ahu-nixta

The techno-organic spheres of the Ahu-nixta strike fear in the hearts of most planar travelers. Slow and ponderous, they are heavily armed and possess self-healing properties. The spheres have no sails but can move in any direction without losing speed, thanks to their unique magic helms.

AHU-NIXTA DREADORB

Gargantuan Vehicle (70-foot-radius sphere), Techno-Organic

Creature Capacity 40 crew, 50 passengers

Cargo Capacity 75 tons

Travel Pace 4 miles per hour (96 miles per day), voidspeed

STR	DEX	CON	INT	WIS	CHA
20 (+5)	6 (-2)	17 (+3)	0	0	0

Damage Immunities poison, psychic

Condition Immunities blinded, charmed, deafened, exhaustion, frightened, incapacitated, paralyzed, petrified, poisoned, prone, stunned, unconscious

Clockwork Regeneration. The orb regains 15 hit points at the start of its turn. If the ship takes acid or fire damage, this trait doesn't function at the start of the ship's next turn. If the ship drops to 0 hit points, this trait stops functioning.

ACTIONS

On its turn, the ship can take three actions, choosing from the options below. It can take only two actions if it has fewer than 20 crew and only one action if it has fewer than 10. It can't take these actions if it has fewer than three crew.

Fire Arcane Cannon. The ship can fire its Arcane Cannon.

Fire Sonic Disruptor. The ship can fire its Sonic Disruptor.

Fire Cascade Artillery. The ship can fire its Cascade Artillery.

Move. The ship can use its helm to move.

HULL

WEAPON: SONIC DISRUPTOR

Armor Class 15

Hit Points 50

Ranged Weapon Attack: +6 to hit, range 120/480 ft., one target. Hit: 33 (6d10) thunder damage. Creatures within 10 feet of the target (including the target if it is a creature) must make a DC 15 Constitution saving throw or be stunned until the start of the orb's next turn. On a successful saving throw, the targets take half as much damage and are deafened instead of stunned.

WEAPON: CASCADE ARTILLERY

Armor Class 15

Hit Points 100

Ranged Weapon Attack: +5 to hit, range 200/800 ft. (can't hit targets within 60 feet of it), one target. Hit: 5 (1d10) bludgeoning damage and 4 (1d8) fire damage. Three bolts then leap from that target to as many as three creatures within 30 feet. Each of those creatures must make a DC 15 Dexterity saving throw, suffering the same damage as the first target on a failed saving throw or half as much damage on a successful one.

Each time a creature fails a saving throw, three more bolts leap out from that target as described above. The chained damage ends when there are no more failed saving throws against the artillery's effect.

Story Seeds

How might adventurers encounter vessels from Ginnungagap, other than across the horizon and docked in trading ports?

Questionable Cargo. As the party travels overland, the sentry on watch sees a shooting star whistle overhead and hears a distant thundering with its impact. Difficult travel to the site takes several hours, but a plume of smoke guides them. Upon arrival, the party finds a crashed voidship, its Lengfolk crew dead with many torn to pieces. Something lurks in the wreckage and cargo bay, and if the characters don't stop the creature, it may go on to massacre a nearby logging camp and its delivery caravan. Once the threat is ended, the adventurers have the option of performing the minor repairs necessary to the ship's hull and taking to the skies themselves. But what will happen when the Lengfolk rescuers' ships arrive, answering the last crew's dying distress call?

Take Out Order. The city is in chaos as an arachni voidship arrives. Several enormous spiders of Leng disembark and begin hunting, seizing dozens of prized steeds that were grazing in the reserved pastures. An arachni queen recently gained a taste for horseflesh after consuming the poor mount of a knight from a group of failed attackers. The queen sent these raiders to fetch her next meal, offering one craven adventurer mercy if they guided the ship. The guide escapes and explains the danger if the party can defeat the guide's pursuer. This exploratory ship may prove to be the first of many such expeditions, but only if it returns. Will the adventurers rise to the occasion and enter the spiders' silken vessel, defeat the invaders, and rescue the mounts?

Some Party. After a night of extreme celebrations, the PCs awake in unfamiliar settings as a dying wizard releases them from cells. It seems they were captured and now find themselves aboard an ahu-nixta vessel. Separated from their gear by a wall of force, the party must find a way to lure a drone into the area, reacquire their equipment, and ascertain just what happened. Amazingly, they find they are no longer on Midgard but en route to an Ahu-Nixta scouting post on the moon Selles, hidden in an old temple. They must decide whether they attempt to overwhelm the crew, discover a way off this vessel before they find themselves surrounded by more of the aberrations, or wait to land and explore the ancient structure.
